About Activity:

The student Training Program (STP) is as an alternative form of education for each year of students in four year Engineering course in RMD Sinhgad School of Engineering, Warje. Grooming the students for the industry needs and behavioral aspects in life are covered by conducting student Training Program. STP co-ordinator worked cooperatively to successfully complete the STP- I for SE students.

STP-1 modules are designed in such fashion that the students try to inculcate the habit of active listening in them which is very much essential thing in life to succeed. The habit of active listening is very important and will surely help students to achieve better prospects. During whole year, the STP coordinator developed a continuous and comprehensive evaluation process using different modules. STP-1 includes total eight different modules out of which two module i.e. active listening and presentation skills were covered by Prof. Varsha Nanavare and Prof. Deepali Newaskar respectively. Prof Deepali Newaskar guided students regarding how to enhance their presentation skills by asking few basic questions like what, why, where and suggested students to do prior analysis of the place where they are going to present and how to enhance the presentation skills.
